The Building Quality Performance Assessments initiative (BQ) helps secondary schools and teachers to design and implement high quality performance assessments that are embedded in the curriculum and are aligned with the Common Core State Standards.

This Summer Institute is for you and/or your school team if:

- You are interested in common writing rubrics, common writing benchmarks, or vertical alignment in your department or school
- You would like to use more performance assessments
- You use school- or grade-wide literacy or interdisciplinary projects
- You want to teach more 21st century, college- and career-ready skills and allow students to demonstrate mastery of rigorous standards
- You want to learn more about using the Common Core State Standards in ELA

During the 3-day Institute, you and/or your school team will:

- Build a common understanding of the purposes and uses of performance assessment.
- Develop an understanding of the BQ curriculum-embedded common writing and presentation tasks, rubrics, and how to use them.
- Collaboratively score student work and explore what it means to make data-driven instructional decisions with performance assessments of high technical quality.
- Plan for implementing curriculum-embedded performance assessments in your school or district.
